CityKinder is a lifestyle and community platform for German-speaking families in the NYC metro area. We offer a wide range of events, groups, classes and seminars and provide expecting parents and young families with comprehensive lists of resources that will help them navigate their new environment as well as parenthood. Through our offline activities, members of our growing CityKinder community can access a supportive network with other families of a similar cultural background.

How it started

When Gabi Hegan became pregnant with her daughter she had been living in New York City for almost 10 years and had never been very involved in the local German community apart from occasional visits to Zum Schneider or Loreley. Having a baby brought her back to her roots and she started to look for other German speaking parents in the area. It's hard to believe now, but apart from a few yahoo groups and some small German programs there was not much on offer for the German speaking parent community.
